

Looking after waterways: free community information session

Healthy waterways provide important habitat for native plants and animals, and they clean water naturally while moving stormwater out to sea.

Whether you live on or near a waterway, there are some simple steps you can take to look after it. Find out how at our free community information session:

When: Wednesday 1
March, 5:30-7pm

Where: Lenzerheide Meeting
Room, Mitcham Library, 154
Belair Rd, Hawthorn

In this session Green Adelaide's Senior Water Projects Officer will talk about:

- The importance of healthy waterways
- How to identify problems with waterways
- What to plant and what to pull out
- Your responsibilities as a property owner.

All participants will receive a copy of our Looking After Waterways property owner's guide and a native seedling to take home.

To reserve your free place for this event, scan the QR code below:

GREEN
ADELAIDE